

Invitation: looking to the future of International Trade

An afternoon of discussion on what the future of international trade may look like.

15.00-17.30 on Monday 26 November 2018

Koldinghus, Kirkesalen, Koldinghus 1, 6000 Kolding

---

The British Embassy in Denmark and Department for International Trade would like to invite you to an afternoon of discussions on future trade relations. Denmark and the United Kingdom enjoy a close and prosperous trade as well as political relationship – something which remains a priority for the United Kingdom as it prepares to leave the European Union in March 2019. This is an opportunity to discuss and address what future trade policy may entail but also to elaborate on global trade relations – obstacles as well as opportunities.

Programme:

- 15.15 Her Majesty's Ambassador to the Kingdom of Denmark: Dominic Schroder: opening remarks and reflections on the United Kingdom's trading relationship with Denmark.
- 15.30 Ron Yip, Deputy Head EU Exit and Negotiations, The Department of International Trade, What will the United Kingdom's trade policy look like? What are the implications of the United Kingdom's exit from the European Union?
- 16.00 Copenhagen Institute for Future Studies, Evaluating and looking ahead: What is the current state of global trade today and what scenarios are we likely to see in the coming 5-10 years.
- 16.40 Networking reception
- 17.30 Event ends

To register please sign up using this link

We hope to see you there and should you have any questions please do not hesitate to get in touch with Maren Dolva:

maren.dolva@mobile.trade.gov.uk or Asbjorn Dalgaard:
Asbjorn.dalgaard@mobile.trade.gov.uk

